

CAS^{LMU} CENTER FOR ADVANCED STUDIES

Dr. Benjamin Krämer
Junior Researcher in Residence, CAS^{LMU}

Perspectives on Right-Wing Populism and the Media: Scholarship, Journalism, Civil Society

11 and 12 September 2017
Center for Advanced Studies, LMU Munich

Monday, 11 September 2017

14:00 – 14:30 Welcome Coffee

14:30 - 15:00 Moritz Baumstark (CAS^{LMU}) and Benjamin Krämer (LMU Munich)
Welcome Address and Introduction

15:00 - 16:30 Benjamin Krämer (LMU Munich)
Perspectives on right-wing populism and the media

Martin Wettstein (University of Zurich)
Populism and the media: Crossnational findings

16:30 – 17:00 Coffee Break

17:00 – 18:30 Lone Nerup Sorensen (University of Leeds)
Populism in comparative perspective: Self-representation through disruptive performance

Christina Holtz-Bacha (FAU Erlangen-Nürnberg)
Populist strategies in election campaigns

19:00 Conference Dinner at “Weinbauer” (Fendstraße 5)

Tuesday, 12 September 2017

- 10:15 – 11:15 Paula-Irene Villa (LMU Munich)
Keynote: Anti-genderism – how gender has become a populist thing
- 11:15 – 12:00 Roy Kemmers (Erasmus University Rotterdam)
“Us know who is to blame”: Understanding popular political discontents in the Netherlands
- 12:00 – 13:00 Lunch Break
- 13:00 – 14:30 Nayla Fawzi (LMU Munich)
On the relation between a populist worldview and negative attitudes towards the media
- Kristoffer Holt (Linnæus University, Kalmar)
Media distrust: A left-wing or right-wing specialty? Historical perspectives on today’s debate about populism and the media
- 14:30 – 15:00 Concluding Remarks and Discussion
- 15:00 – 15:30 Coffee
- 15:30 – 17:30 Benjamin Krämer (LMU Munich) and invited journalists, scholars and civil society experts
Round-table discussion: Perspectives on right-wing populism and the media (in German; invited participants only)

Venue:

Center for Advanced Studies LMU
Seestraße 13
80802 München